

Websites

Capabilities

Rivertown Communications has created and launched successful website designs for many different types (and all sizes) of businesses and government agencies. Our web designers have the creative talent to appeal to your sense of style, the training and knowledge to design to current web standards and practices, and the ability to turn your ideas into a functioning, effective web presence!

Our website designs are created with clear, obvious navigation. We believe that if people can't find their way around your site, they won't use it as often. Once we have a clear navigational design, we create and add the professional visual elements that will make your site stand out with your visitors. Enhancements can include streaming video, audio and Flash elements (or a complete Flash site).

Prior to activating any site, we conduct a complete technical review, to make sure that everything works as designed and that the site is user friendly. If your site also needs to meet Section 508, ADA or other accessibility standards our reviewers, using assistive technology, will test for this.

Services

Our web design services include:

- Basic website design and development
- Domain name purchase and registration
- Web hosting
- Business start-up packages
- E-commerce websites
- Distance learning systems and web-delivered training
- Custom dual-scale online surveys
- Data-driven websites
- Streaming video enhancements
- Flash programming / Flash objects
- Custom and unique graphics creation
- Accessible (Section 508) site development to help the disabled and to meet Federal and State laws and W3C certification
- Basic search engine registration and optimization

Today, it's a requirement that your business has a web presence. Even if your product or service doesn't lend itself to web sales, a website is needed for credibility. Even a basic brochure website will give your company the visibility your customers and prospects expect.